

Haiti — We are the fortunate ones...

A new year, a new disaster, a new way to become one; As you look at the photos above, it strikes home how fortunate we are.

Take a second look...

These pictures were taken before the earthquake

For people who had so little before the disaster struck, this earthquake has shaken them to their core. They have decided that living on their front lawns is better than living inside a house that could crush them.

The horror that they must relive every time they close their eyes at night would send most of us over the edge. But the Haitians are used to everyday horrors, as the photos will attest to.

We, as citizens of the United States and of the World— we as a population with TV's in every home, need to come to their aid. You and I, we can become one and embrace the Haitians with our love, our healing energy and our money. We all have different ways to contribute; you choose the one that is most comfortable for you.

The benefit below is being put on by a dedicated group of musicians, their friends and family with the Woman's Club of Minneapolis donating their theater for the event with all proceeds going to Haiti Outreach.
